

ABSTRACT

A hockey stick blade comprising a shank and a blade element having a front surface and a rear surface. The blade comprises a core of synthetic material extending along a longitudinal axis, the core comprising a blade element portion. The blade also 5 comprises a layer of fibers recovering the core of synthetic material and a layer of thermoplastic material recovering the layer of fibers.